1. NARRATIVE AND LORE

The owl flies to the brightest light

Every night the owl brings fortune. The light decides where.

In Hindi, "ullu" means "owl". It also means "fool". An Indian folk belief says the white owl brings wealth and flies to wherever the light is brightest. So on festival nights the whole street lights its lamps: everyone wants the owl to pick their house.

Our Ullu is a fat barn owl in a saffron turban. Every night he flies over the street and lands where the light is brightest. He is smug and a little silly, he loves chai and gold, and he is never wrong about luck. People call him a fool, but he is the one who laughs last.

The site is his street. Every visitor gets a house of their own and lights it up every evening. The longer the run of nights, the brighter the house and the closer the owl. On the seventh night in a row he lands on the roof in sunglasses and opens his sack of gifts.

Voice

A sly night visitor. We joke about light, neighbours and chai. We never promise profit and never call gifts rewards: the owl brings decorations, not money.

Why people come back

A ritual every evening: light up before the owl flies past. A run of nights is painful to lose, a collection begs to be finished, and a bright house is something to show off on the street and on X. No wallet, no sign-up: open the site and play.

What all four owls share

A fat barn owl with a white heart-shaped face, a saffron turban with a brooch and a white feather, gold and chai. Sunglasses only on night seven.

2. FOUR OWLS

The options

Each owl gets three pages next: the main picture, the turnaround with emotions, and his own palette for the site. All four are shown on the same background, so only the character is compared.

OWL 1

Mustard Vest

A street guy who made it: squats on his coins, sips chai and winks.

OWL 2

Gold

The same owl on payday: gold brocade, jewels and silk.

OWL 3

Truck Art

The owl after a sleepless night, painted like an Indian truck.

OWL 4

Lungi

The neighbour in a vest and lungi who casually shows off a diamond.

OWL 1

Mustard Vest

A street guy who made it: squats on his coins, sips chai and winks.

Style

Smooth flat cartoon: even thick black outlines, flat rich colours, one soft shadow, white highlights on the gold. This is the smooth version of the pixel-art owl the client liked.

Strengths

The most recognisable silhouette: it reads well even small, in the sky above the house. Closest in style to the houses and decorations the site draws in code. The client already liked it.

Things to consider

The calmest of the four: less street madness than Truck Art or Lungi.

OWL 1 · MUSTARD VEST

Turnaround · Emotions

TURNAROUND

Front, three-quarter, profile and back. The turnaround keeps the owl the same in every picture we make in Flow.

EMOTIONS

1 Smug

2 Laughing

3 Night seven, sunglasses

4 Shocked

5 Crying

6 Winking

Emotions on the site: stickers in "Light a picture", the owl's reactions to the night's events, a Telegram sticker pack.

OWL 1 · MUSTARD VEST

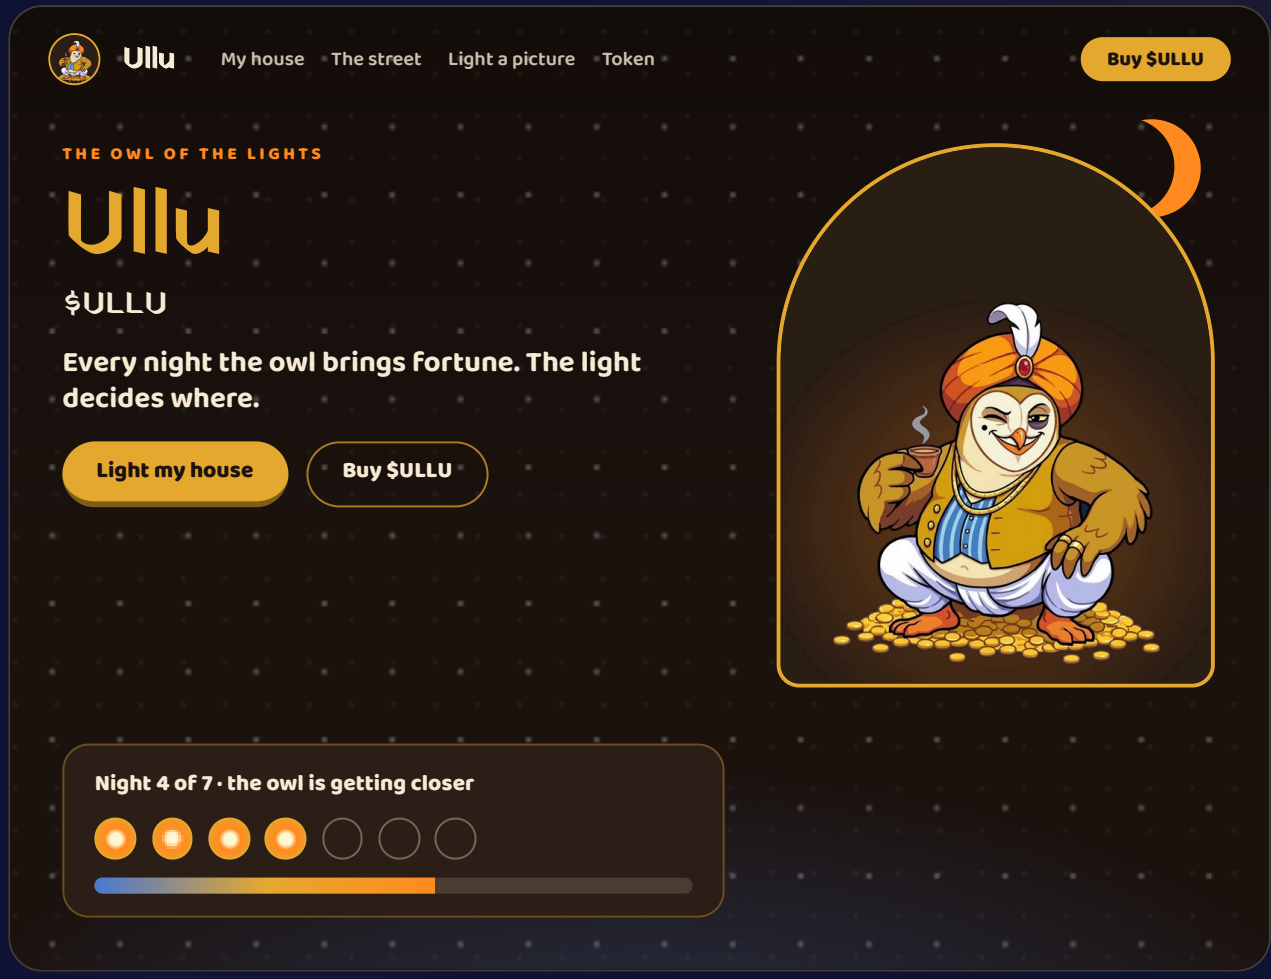

Site colours

"Masala Chai"

Where the colours come from: the mustard waistcoat, the indigo stripes of the vest, the saffron turban, the clay chai cup; the background is dark like strong tea

Background	#1B120E

Buttons	#E5A82E
Second colour	#4A78D0
Lights and accents	#FF8A1F

Detail	#C65A32

Each owl has a night of his own: the backgrounds differ but stay dark, so the lights of the houses glow. The colours come from the owl's outfit and things, not from the background of the picture.

How the first screen would look

OWL 2

Gold

The same owl on payday: gold brocade, jewels and silk.

Style

The same smooth cartoon as Mustard Vest, plus shine: sparkles and highlights on the brocade.

Strengths

The most expensive-looking picture, great for covers and the first screen. It can live together with Mustard Vest as his festive outfit, for example on night seven or in the holder preview with golden decorations.

Things to consider

The fine pattern and the shine get lost at small sizes. The wealth stays a joke: no hint of profit for buyers.

OWL 3

Truck Art

The owl after a sleepless night, painted like an Indian truck.

Style

Drawn with markers and gouache in the spirit of Indian truck art: uneven ink outlines, visible brush strokes and paper texture.

Strengths

The most unusual style in the series and the most street, meme-like character. The acid green and saffron stand out in the X feed at once.

Things to consider

The hand-drawn look is far from the clean houses on the site: the houses and decorations would need a marker-style redraw. The tired look with dark circles is not for everyone.

OWL 4

Lungi

The neighbour in a vest and lungi who casually shows off a diamond.

Style

Flat meme mascot: thick even outlines, flat colours, a simple shadow.

Strengths

The simplest and funniest look, the easiest to turn into stickers and memes. Home clothes and a diamond in hand is a joke anyone gets at once.

Things to consider

The crypto-mascot style is close to other characters in the series.

Mustard Vest and Gold are the same owl. We can take both: the vest for every day, the gold for night seven and for holders.

My house and seven nights

A house of your own from the first visit

The site builds every visitor a house nobody else has. Three questions: the name on the door, a wish and a street. The wish paints the house and changes what the owl brings more often. There are five streets, all Indian: Mumbai, a Jaipur haveli, Jaisalmer, Kolkata and Goa. The visitor's city is found on its own and written on the house plate. The questions can be skipped to play right away.

Seven nights

Once a day the visitor presses "Light up". The owl flies by and leaves gifts: one on the first night, two on the second, seven on the seventh, then three a night. Every night the house is brighter, the neighbours' windows light up, a cat, a chai cart and fireworks appear on the street, and the owl flies closer. Miss a night and the house goes dark: the run starts again. On the seventh night in a row the owl lands on the roof in sunglasses with his sack.

Street events

Every night something happens on the street, 40 events in all: a wedding with a brass band, the monsoon, a power cut in the whole block, cricket on TV, the tram in Kolkata, a camel in Jaisalmer. A monkey may borrow a bulb and bring it back the next night. Diwali, Holi and New Year bring holiday gifts. Everything goes into the street diary.

A card for X

One button turns the house into a picture with the night's caption, the house number and the city. It can be saved or posted to X right away: every player shows the project to their followers for free.

Decorations, the street and the tools

115 decorations

Nine groups: lamps, lanterns, garlands, neon, signs, stickers, yard and roof, windows, wall paint. Four rarities: common, rare, epic and legendary; legendary ones come only from night five of a run. A decoration goes on a glowing spot or anywhere on the picture: it can be moved, resized and turned. There is a neon sign with your own words and a sign with the ticker. The album shows how many of the 115 are collected.

The street

A house can be put on the shared street. It shows the brightest houses, the "house of the night", the longest runs and who just lit up. The server draws each house from its code and counts its brightness itself, so a picture cannot be faked. Houses that went dark are easy to see.

A neighbour by link

A visitor sends a friend a link. The friend's house stands right next to theirs, and the friend gets a housewarming gift. This is how the street grows by itself.

Light a picture

A separate tool: your own photo, your house or a project picture falls into night, and you hang lights from your album on it. When the brightness reaches 100%, the owl arrives. The picture can be saved, turned into a round avatar or posted to X.

Holders

The "holder preview" switch shows golden decorations and removes the watermark from cards. The wallet check will be added once we know how GuruFun does it.

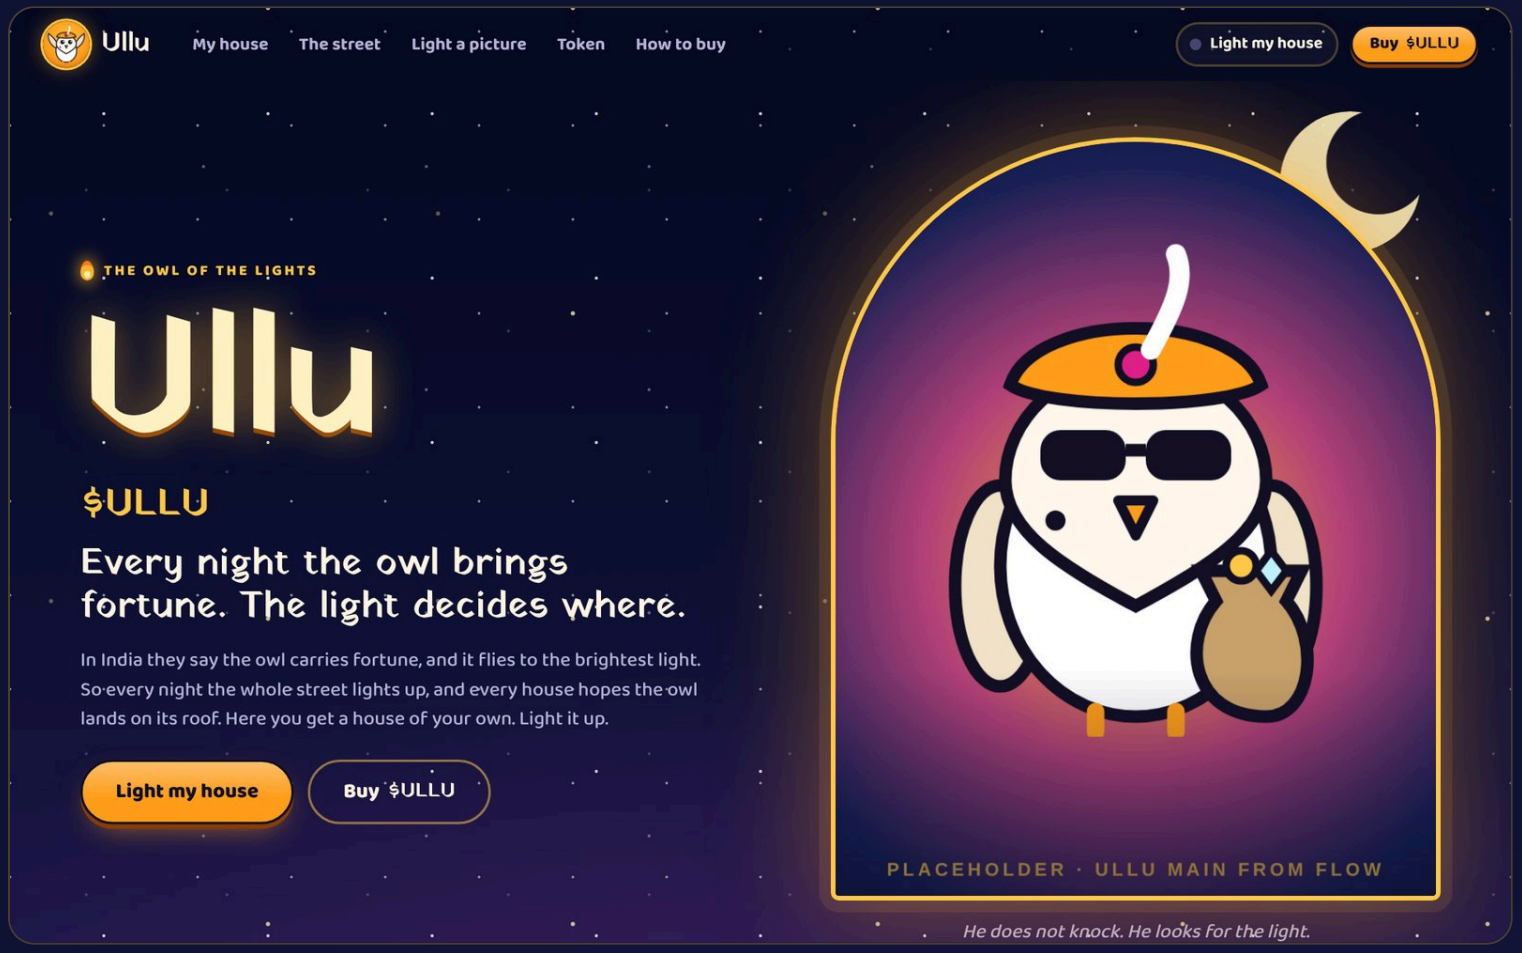

No login, no wallet

The house is kept in the visitor's browser, and the house code moves it to another phone. The site runs on Vercel first, then moves to the client's hosting without changes.

5. THE SITE TODAY

What it looks like

Screenshots of the built site. The owl in them is a temporary placeholder drawn in code: after the choice it will be replaced by the pictures of the chosen owl, and the colours will switch to his palette.

First screen: the owl in an arched window, the slogan, and the "Light my house" and "Buy" buttons.

The same screen on a phone.

5. THE SITE TODAY

What it looks like

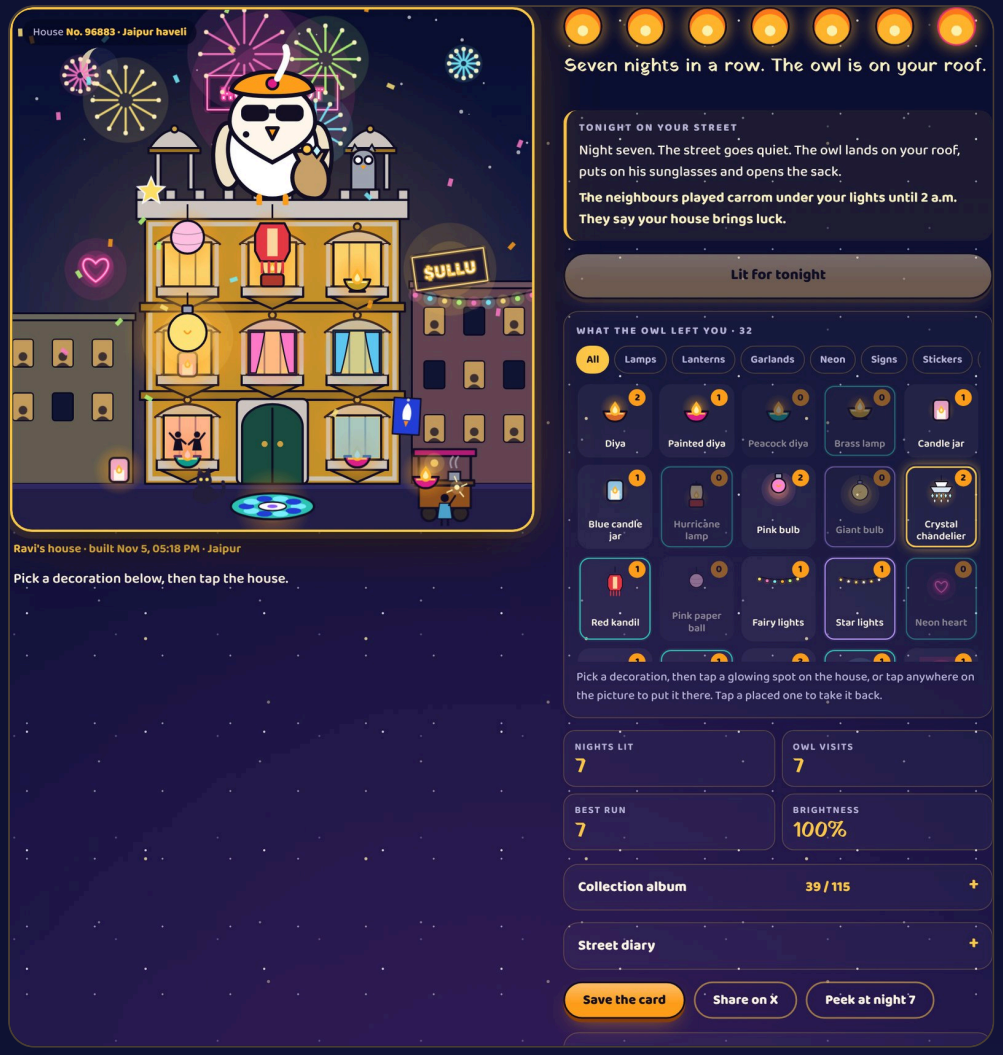

First visit: three questions. The house on the left changes with every answer.

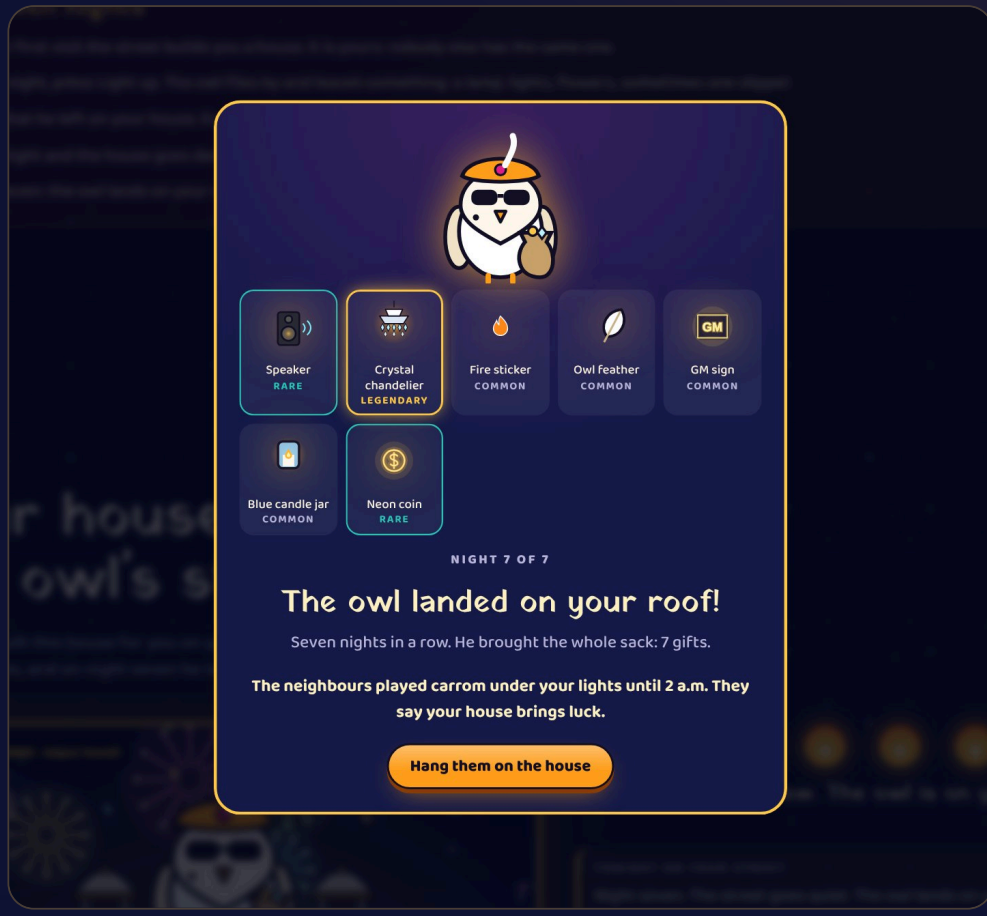

Night one: one lamp is lit, the owl is still far away, the night's event is on the right.

What it looks like

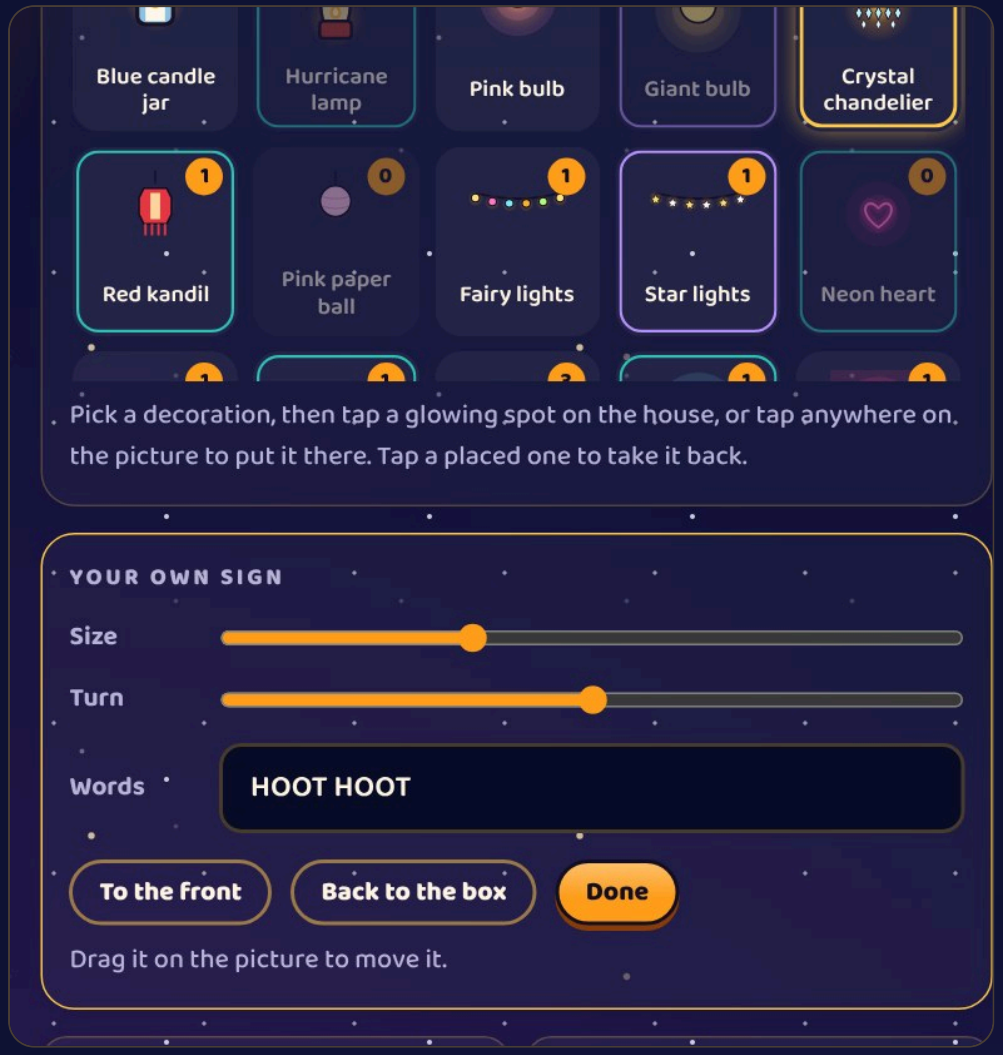

Night seven: the house is decorated, the owl is on the roof, fireworks over the street.

The gifts window on night seven: seven gifts and the night's event.

What it looks like

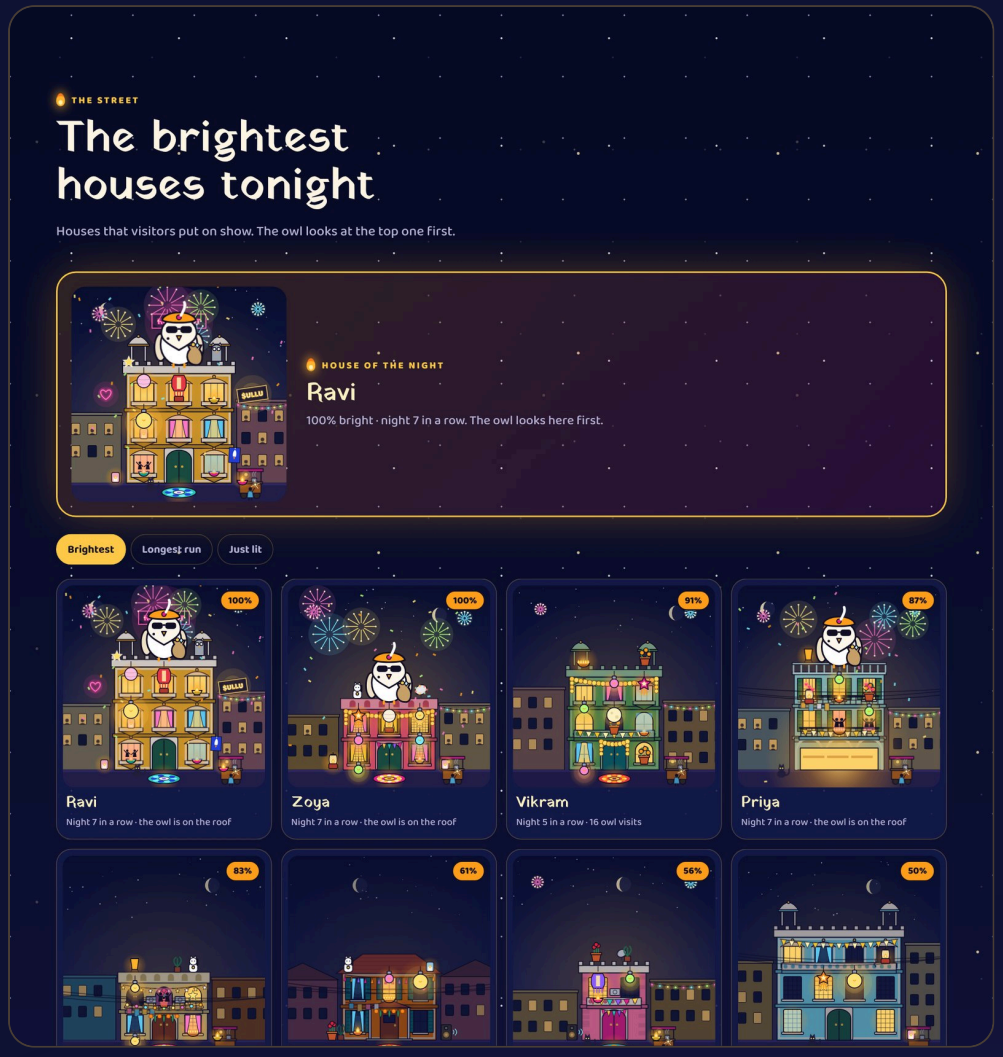

The owl's gifts by group and your own neon sign: size, turn and words.

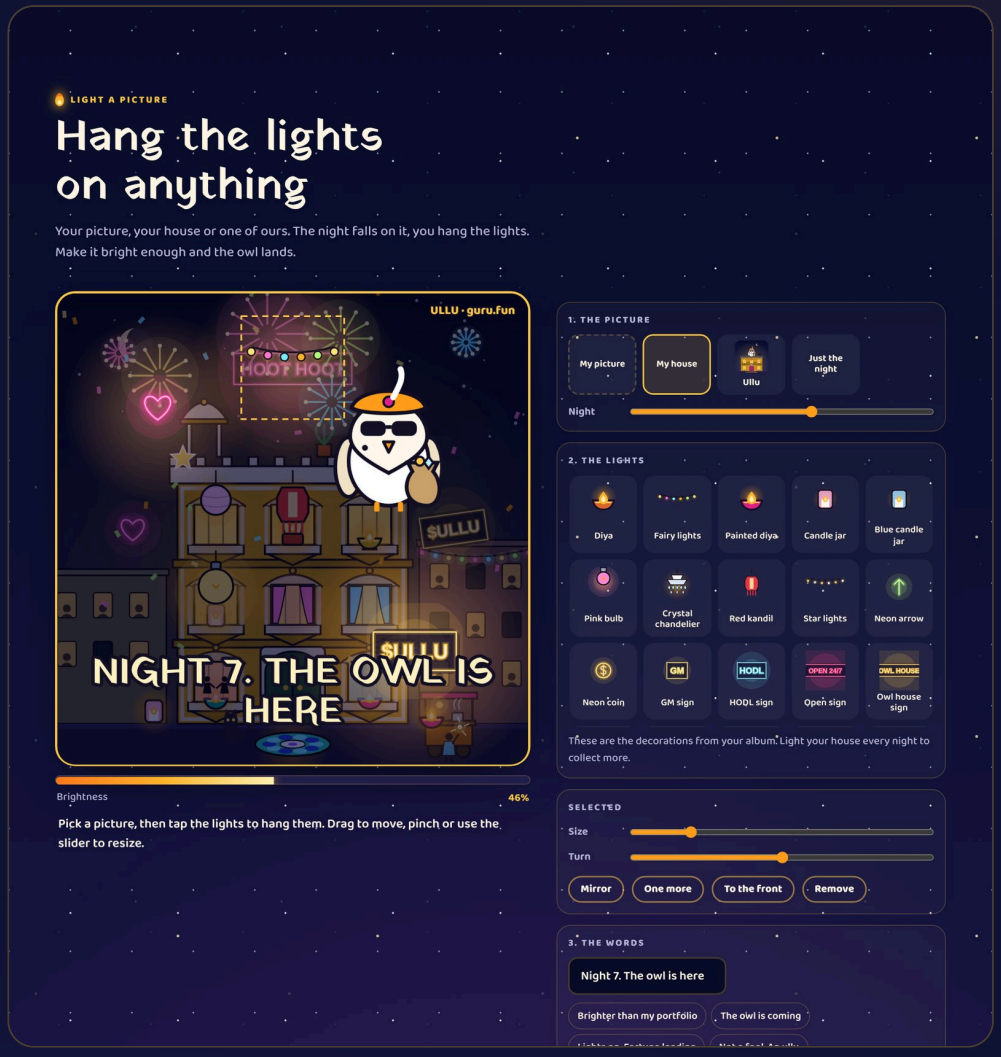

A card for X: the house, the night's caption, the house number and the city.

What it looks like

The street: the "house of the night" and the brightest houses of visitors.

"Light a picture": lights on your own picture, a caption, saving and X.

THE STORY

The owl goes where the light is brightest

Ullu means owl. In Hindi it also means a fool. He is both, and he is never wrong about money.

1

He flies at night

Every night Ullu flies over the city with a sack of fortune. He does not read names on doors. He looks for the brightest window.

2

So everyone lights up

Lamps on the sills, lights on the roofs, flowers on the doors. Every house wants to be the one the owl sees first.

3

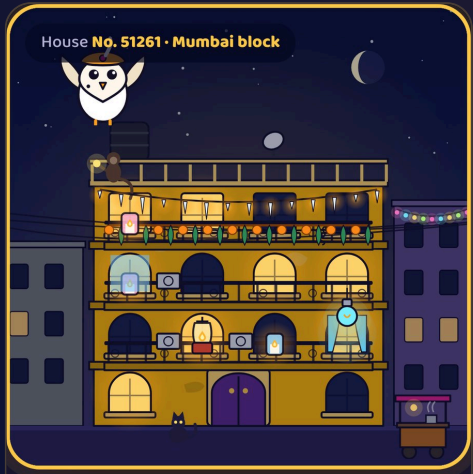

Seven nights in a row

Light your house every night. On the seventh night in a row the owl lands on your roof, puts on his sunglasses and leaves the whole sack.

The seven nights

- On your first visit the street builds you a house. It is yours: nobody else has the same one.
- Once a night, press Light up. The owl flies by and leaves something: a lamp, lights, flowers, sometimes one slipper.
- Hang what he left on your house. Every night the house is brighter and the owl comes closer.
- Miss a night and the house goes dark. The run starts again from night one.
- Night seven: the owl lands on your roof with a sack of gold. Save the card, share it, put the house on the street.

The lore block: how the game works, in three steps.

A house on a phone, night four.
